The 1st Presidential Debate: Trump is nimble; Biden is slow

June 27, 2024

June 27, 2024: After President Biden was said to have lost the 1st Presidential Debate, as assessed by most of the observers, many leaders of the Democratic Party started thinking about the possibility of having another person to replace Biden as the Democratic candidate.

After the Debate, President Joe Biden said, "I know I'm not a young man."

He said that it was difficult to debate with Trump, who continues to present false data to support his arguments.

Former President Donald Trump's supporters were very enthusiastic after the 1st Debate. Trump continued to address a crowd of his supporters, at the venue of the Debate for more than 45 minutes.

On Thursday, Donald Trump revealed that he had picked his running mate.

He had told the reporters on Saturday, June 20, 2024, that he had not yet informed the person, whom he had picked up to be his Vice-Presidential running mate, about his choice. The former President had said his pick would be attending the first Presidential Debate on June 27.

The media, however, even on 27th June, was not introduced to the Trump's pick as his running mate. Trump would have to announce his Vice-Presidential candidate at the Republican National Convention (RNC) next month, where he will be named the GOP presidential nominee.

The Republican National Convention will be held in Milwaukee, a city on Lake Michigan in the State of Wisconsin.

A framework agreement was signed by RNC Chairwoman Ronna McDaniel and Cavalier Johnson, the Mayor of Milwaukee, in the presence of Reince Priebus, the former White House Chief of Staff under ex-President Donald Trump.

Fiserv Forum and Wisconsin Center, to transportation and hotels, all was in place. Significantly, local organizers maintained that delegates and their guests will be housed within 30 minutes of Fiserv Forum.
